Objective

---

Examine the relationship between attendance in TAP courses and the use of VA Benefits—controlling for demographic and contextual factors (for example, geographic region, age, education, etc.)

---

Analyze the effect of participation in TAP courses on the long-term outcomes of Veterans in the broad life domains of employment, education, health and social relationships, financial, and overall satisfaction and well-being—in particular, calculate change scores (such as income increase from T1 to T2), and estimate the effect of TAP and other transition activities on those scores, controlling for other factors.

---

Identify areas of improvement for TAP and the broader transition process to guide training and/or operational activities aimed at enhancing the quality of service provided to transitioning service members, Veterans, their families and caregivers.
