General Comment

While gathering data is imperative improving programming, I believe that adding an additional burdens on these agencies would need to be combatted. Specifically as mentioned in the proposed renewal it was stated that 53 state agencies and 144 implementing agencies would be affected. I have to raise the concern that smaller agencies would be burdened by these new reporting measures. I think if this proposed renewal goes into effect that assistance/trainings would be extended to these agencies who may not have the capacity to handle an new systems to track said data. However, I do appreciate the attempt to promote greater efficiency in terms of reporting which in the long haul would doo greater good than harm.
